What is love? Anyone who can tell us?

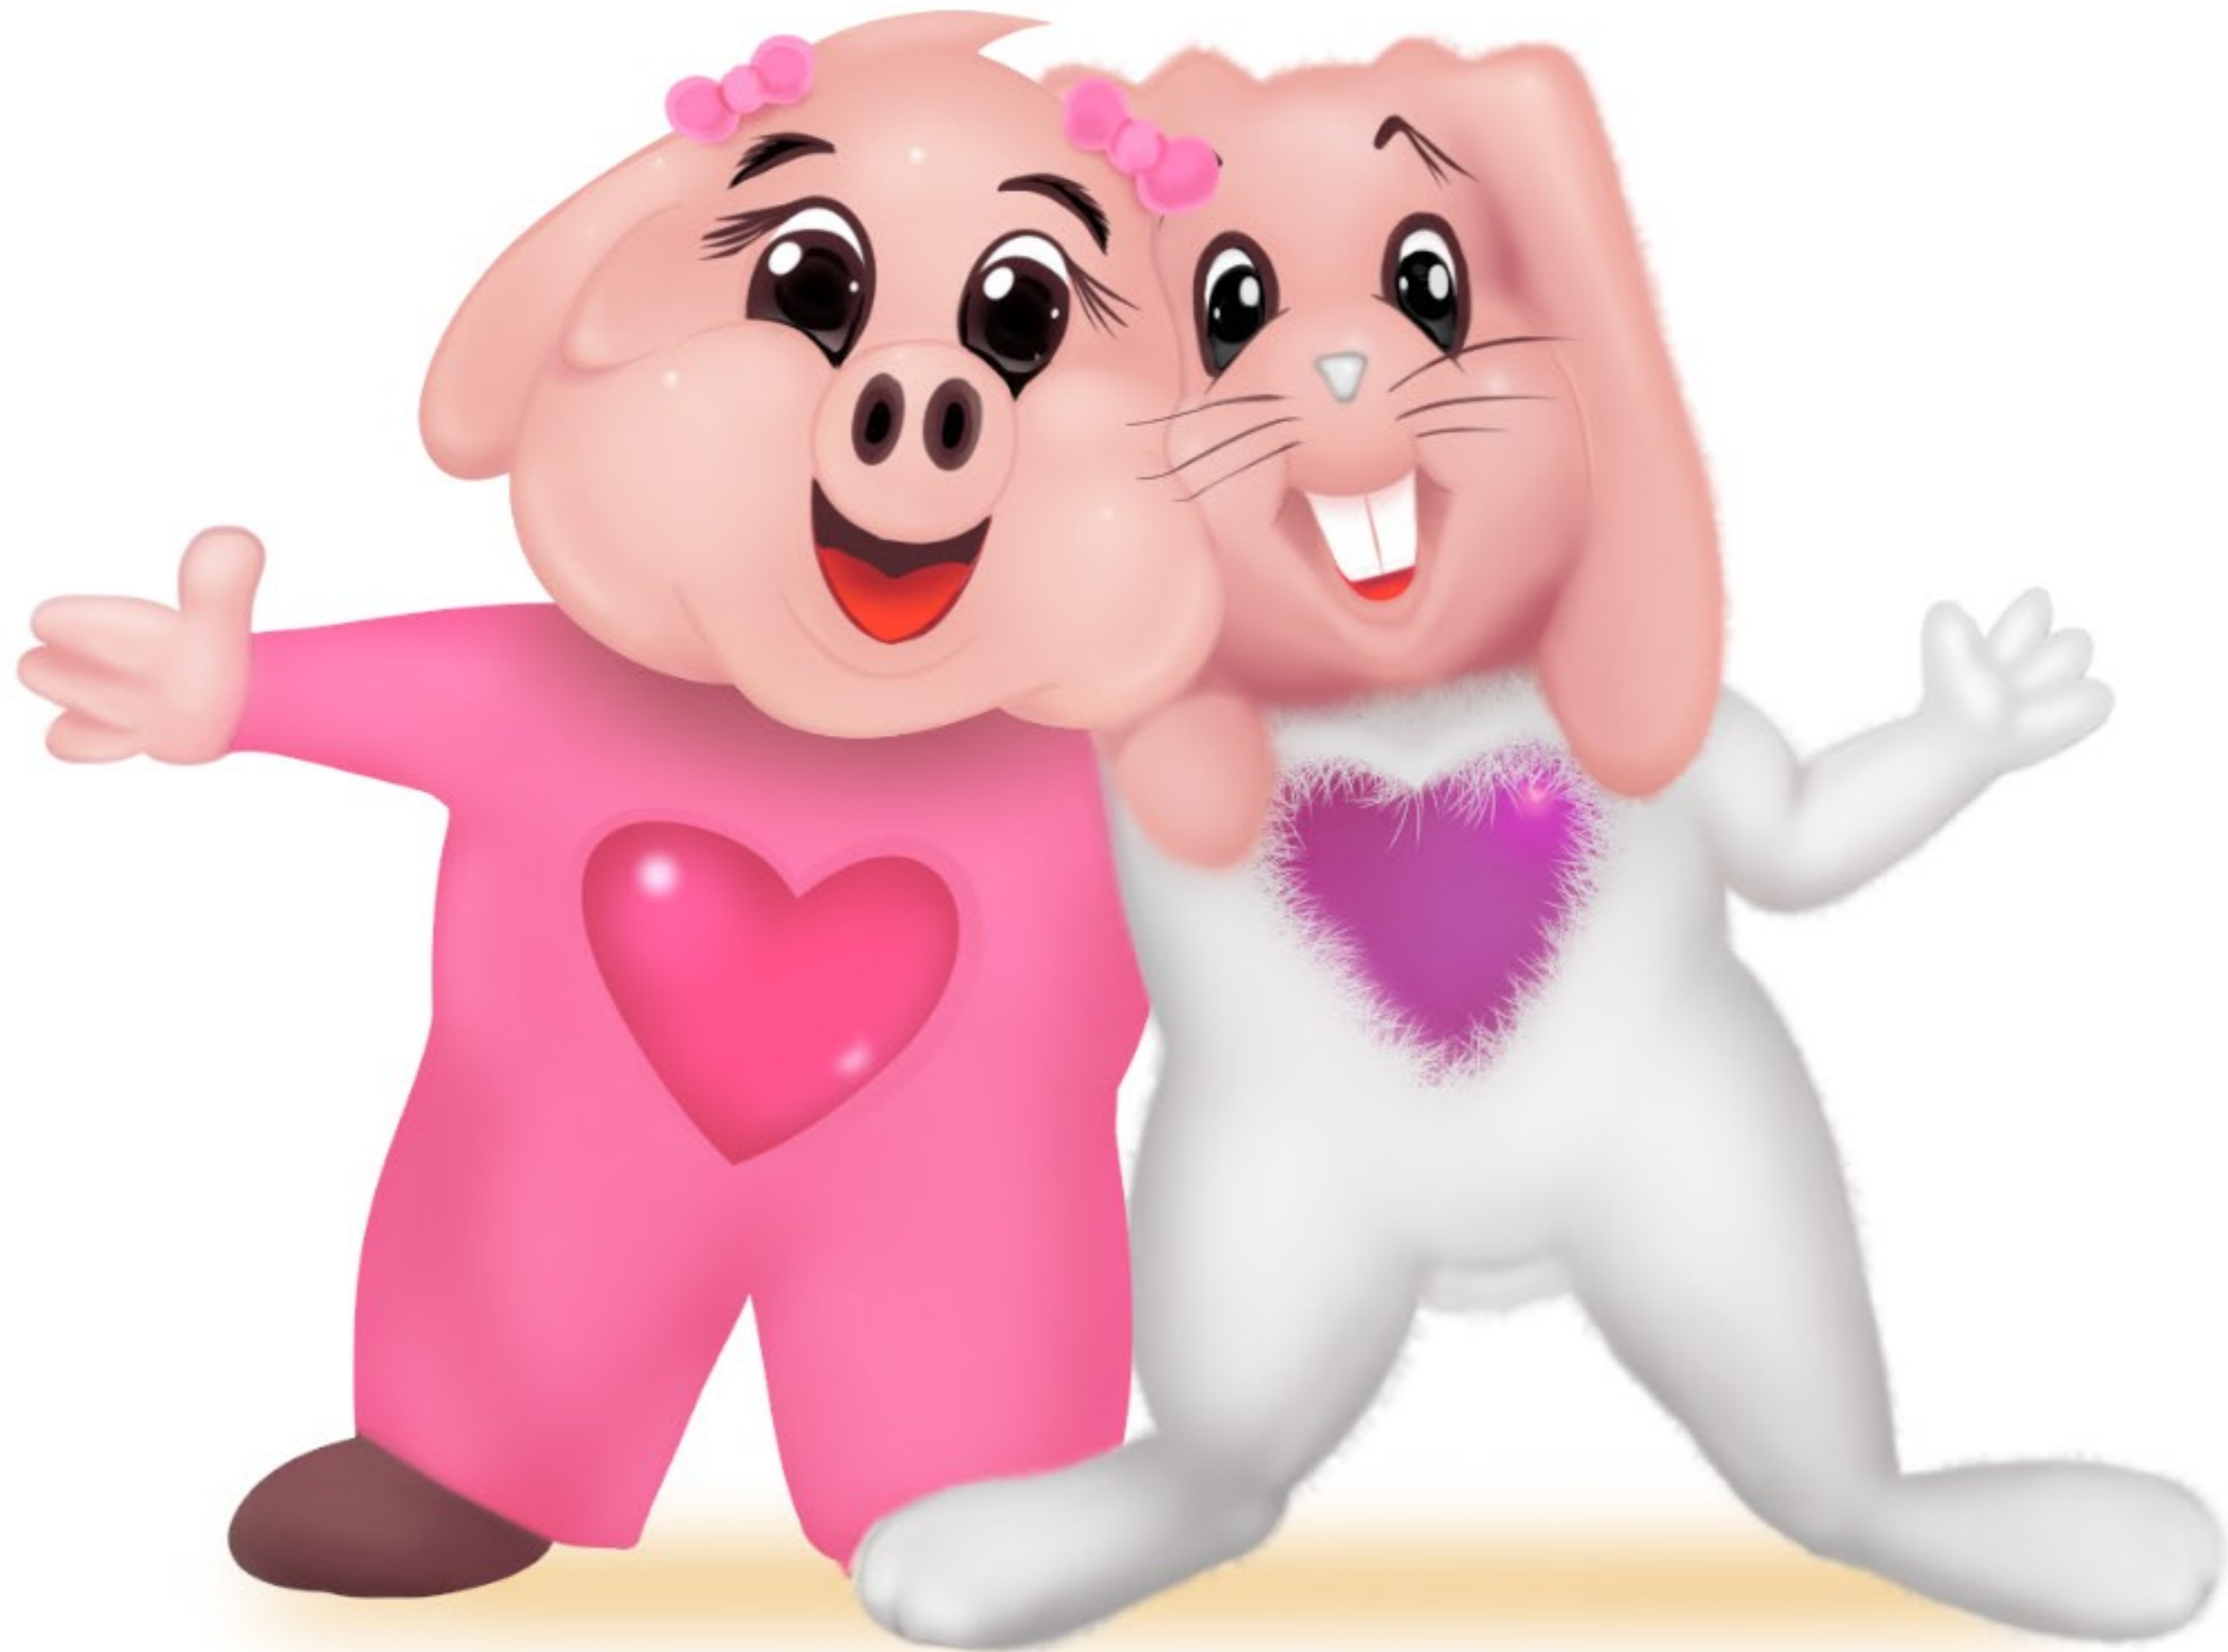

Love is when we think of each other and act on that thought.

Is that love?

Why yes! But love is more than that! Love is when we are patient with someone we love!

Yes! And love is when we care about and want good things to happen to someone we love.

Absolutely! And love is when we never lose hope about or for someone we love!
All that combined is love!

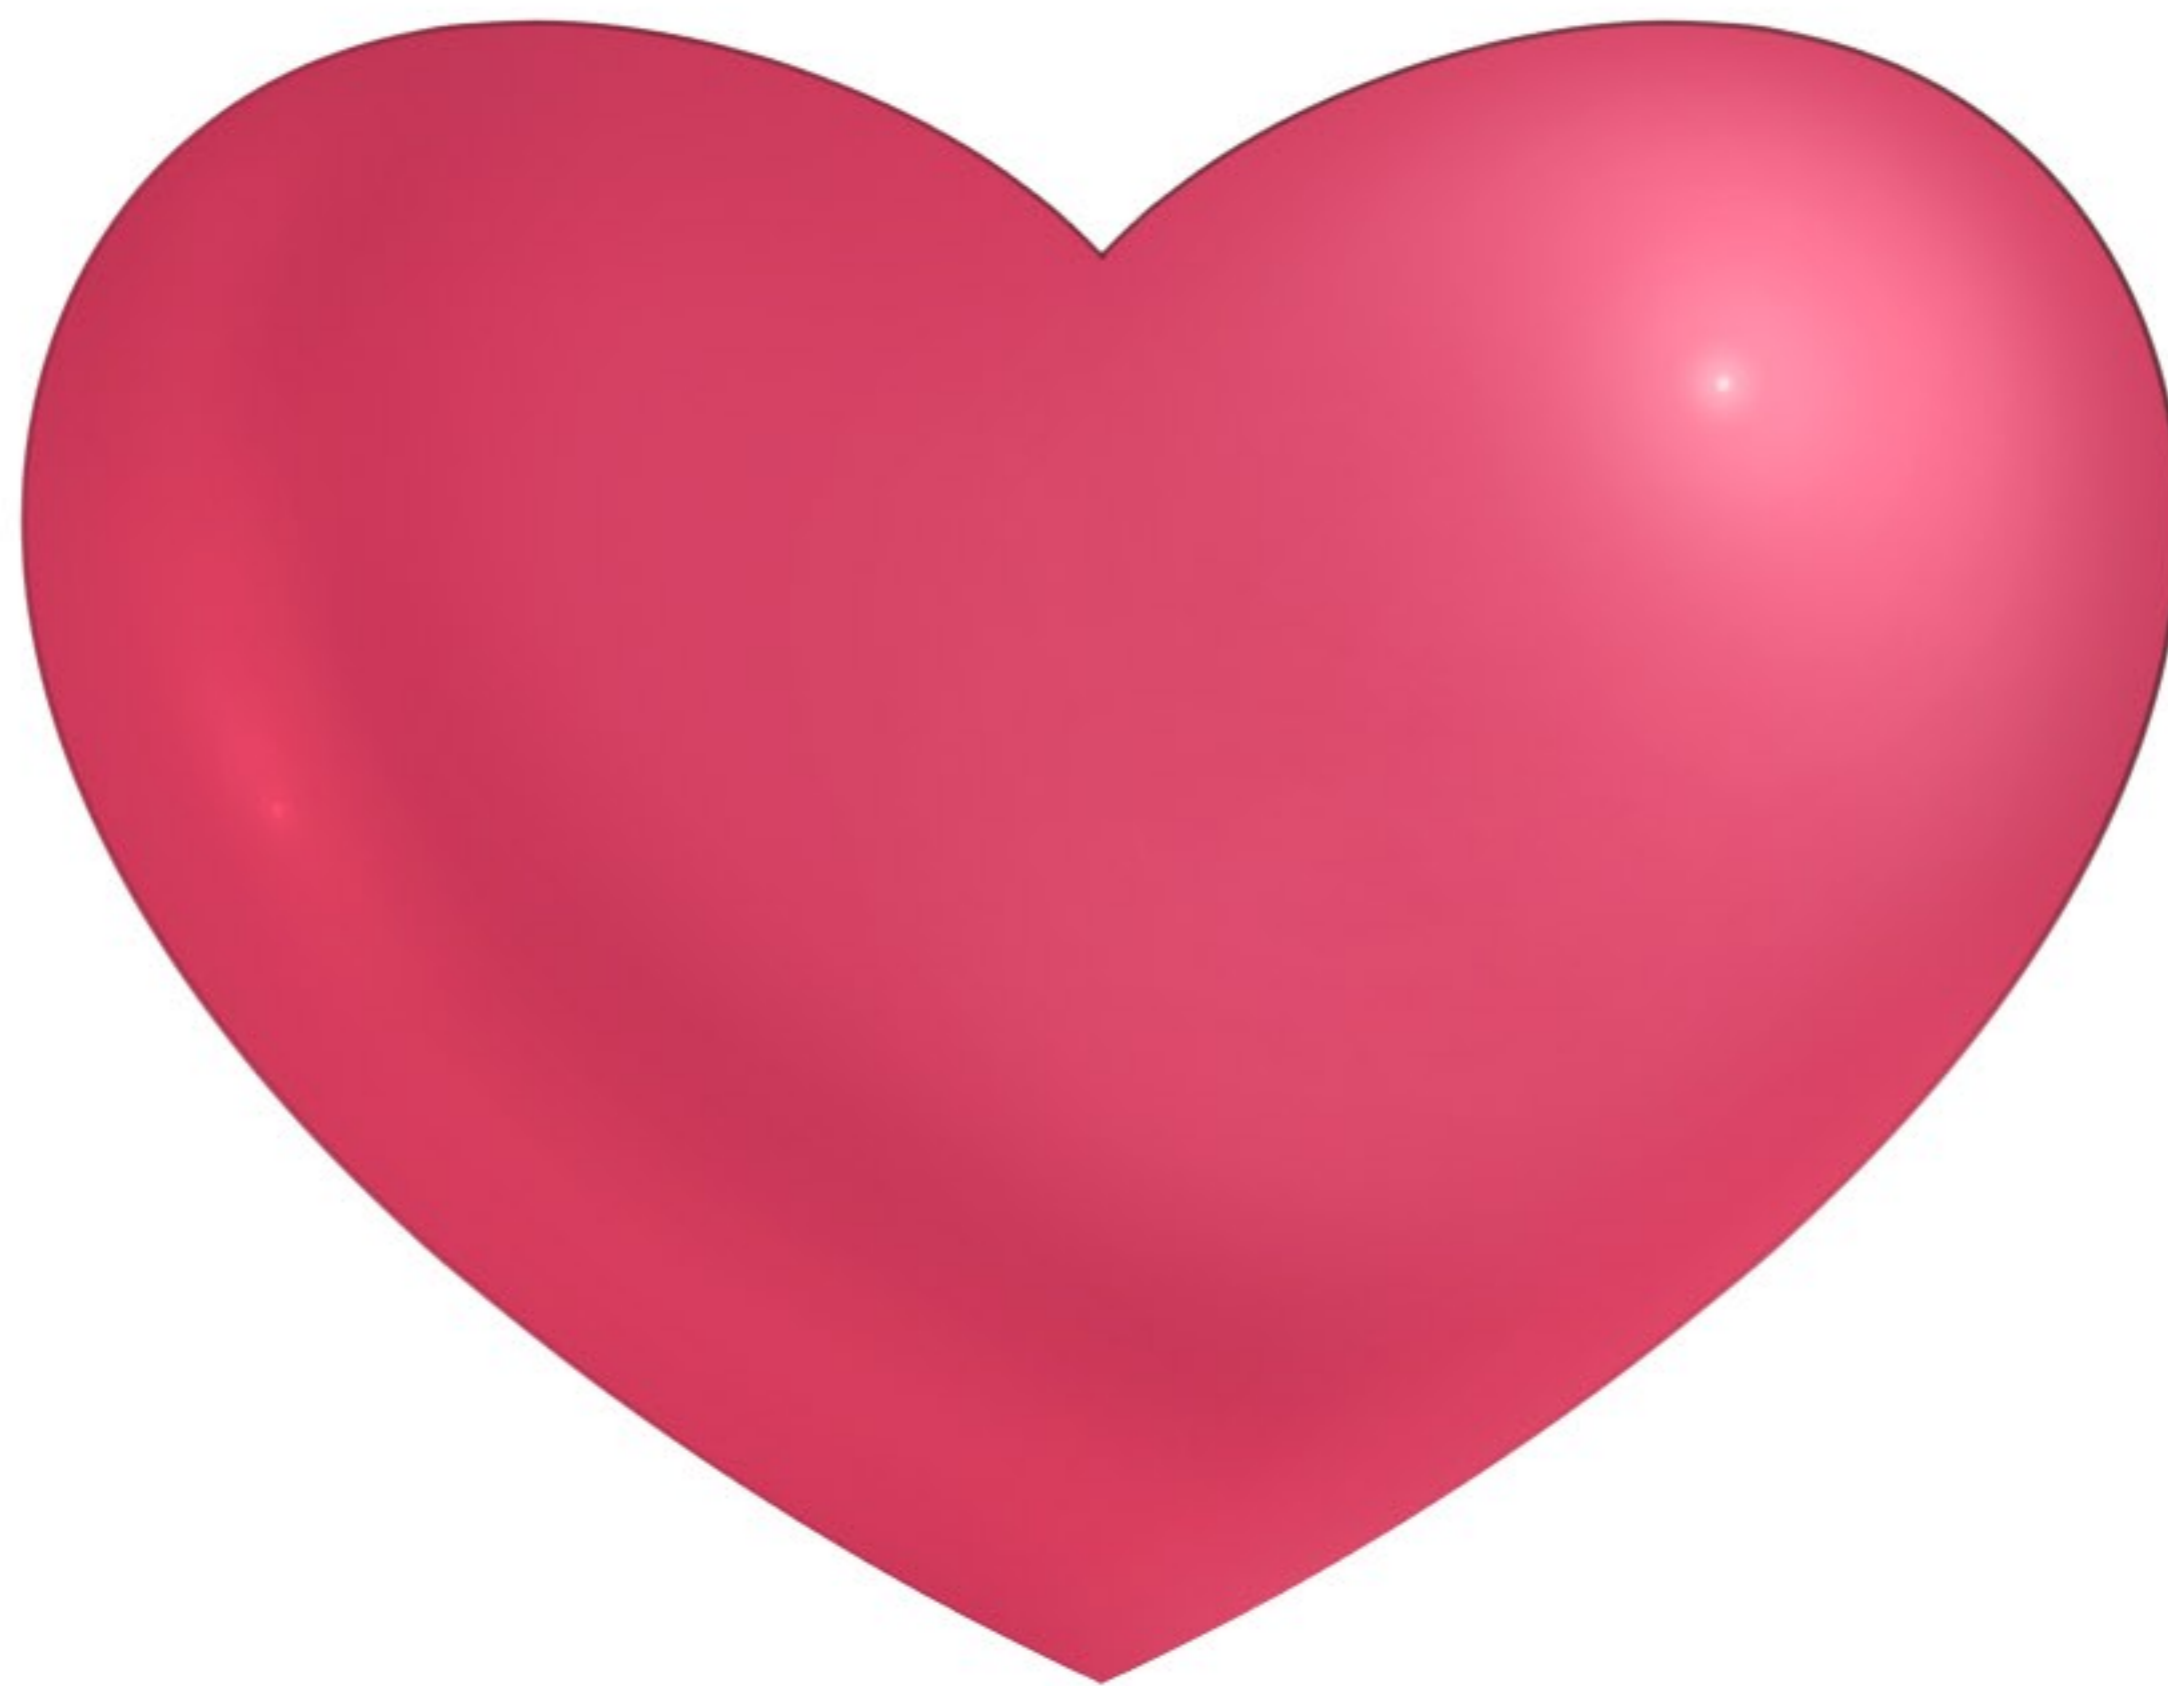

But... when we feel like butterflies in our belly, is that love?

No! Of course not :)
That is just passion and excitement.
